BBB Says:

“NEVs are limited by law to speeds below 25mph or 35mph. The best resemble earnest attempts at space capsules, the worst evoke street-legal golf carts. But not the Cruiser Sport.”

The screenshot shows a BBC Autos webpage. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'BBC', 'Sign in', and links for 'News', 'Sport', 'Weather', 'Shop', 'Earth', and 'More'. Below this is the 'AUTOS' section header. A banner for 'ShareFile' is visible, with the text 'Instantly access files from any device. Anytime. Anywhere.' and a 'Start your free trial' button. The main article is titled 'Ecocruise Cruiser Sport is the golf cart, accelerated' by David K. Gibson, dated 12 November 2014. It features a large image of the Ecocruise Cruiser Sport, a small, two-seater, open-top electric vehicle. Below the main image are four smaller thumbnails showing different views of the vehicle. To the right of the article, there's a 'Follow us on' section with social media icons for YouTube, Facebook, and Twitter. Below that is an 'UPCOMING BROADCASTS' section with a video player showing a man speaking, and a list of upcoming events: 'AWS RE:INVENT Nov 12-14' and 'HP Discover Barcelona Dec 2-4'. At the bottom right, there's a 'Top Autos Stories' section.

Back9 Says:

“Let’s be honest: Golf carts are pretty boring looking, and even more boring to drive. One sweet cart that you could see on your course, however, is the Ecocruise CS Golf Car.”
